WORKING PRESS. The flashbulb boys hustled about Norman Moon, Monday morning, during his brief trip from the jail to the court house. Soon he would be inside and no pictures could be taken until five. Out of this scramble came prints for the wire services, magazines, and the nation's press.

HIS FIRST STEP toward a long session of court appearances was taken Monday morning when Norman Moon, charged with the murder of Judge Allison D. Wade, January 13, 1954, emerged from the Warren county jail with Sheriff Larry Linder. He was met by a flood of the nation's news photographers who were taking advantage of one of the few opportunities Judge Alexander C. Flick allowed them for using their cameras.

THE DEFENSE ARRIVES. Attorneys Bracmer and Waggoner step briskly up the court house walk Monday morning. They arrived minutes before the defendant emerged to take the same pathway.

(We kept waiting for some councilman to ask why Warren was selling the best of its three deficient trucks. We assume it is the best if for no other reason than the claimed fact that it will bring the best price. It has only 5,000 miles on it and will be used by some volunteer company which will drive it long miles, longer than we would demand of it as a spare.)

Councilman Rudiger explained that it first had been necessary to determine what the serial number of the motor was. He said that it is an International and that parts now easily can be obtained. He said the only hard parts to get would be points for the foreign magneto, and he said this could be replaced by an American make.

He also said he considered the Mack truck of more value to the community than the LaFrance which has only two-wheel brakes and would bring only junk prices if sold.

Councilman Carbon said he would like to hear the underwriter's report on these trucks. Engineer Barwis produced it and Councilman Painter read that Warren has three trucks which are considered deficient, the Mack, a GMC, and the old LaFrance. And this was a report written in November, 1952.

Council then voted 11 to 3 to sell the Mack.

Council learned that Don Mervine has resigned from the civil service commission because of his new residence outside of town, and it voted $200 to the GAR, VFW, and Legion to help defray Memorial Day expenses.

Councilman Yagge reported that the airport still does not have a new manager, and council voted to release Bud Maier of his lease at his suggestion.

Councilman Carbon read a recommendation of the Civilian Recreation Committee which urged council to take immediate action concerning the lack of playground space in the upper Fifth Ward. He said that the committee now is having land appraised in preparation for such a project.

NO PICTURE. No picture, waved the imported tipstaff, as he guided his flock of jurors to their dinner. But it was after five and off limits, so the enterprising photographer put him on film.

DEADLINES. Warren county went big time, with special telephones installed to assist the reporters. Here the United Press and Pittsburgh Post Gazette leg men put in their calls for the latest editions.

Mail Box Improvement Week has been set by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield for the week of May 17th, according to a bulletin issued by Warren's postmaster Knabenshoe. Patrons desiring specific information on the proper size, height and mounting of rural mail boxes should get in touch with their postmaster or their carrier.

The purpose of the campaign is to assist carriers in delivering mail accurately.

Paving In Warren this year will include several resurfacing jobs by the state. Included will be upper Conewango ave., from Frank st. north, Pennsylvania ave. E., from South st., Jackson and Park st. to the borough limits, and Pennsylvania ave. from Poplar to Beech will be widened.

A Meeting Of The Warren Boy Choir parents was held last Tuesday evening in their rooms on Pennsylvania ave., Warren, at which time the group heard the treasurer's report and members present discussed ways of further financing this popular Warren group. Parent's Chairman Fred Swanson has appointed a parents committee to handle work details of the coming Spring Concert at the High school on June 15, 16, and 17. Details of the concert will be announced later.

Definite plans have developed for the annual choir spring trip. The choir will leave Warren by bus on June 28 and will present two evening appearances at Ocean City, New Jersey, on June 29 and 30. Business Manager, John Powley, also announced the possibilities of the choir also appearing at the Atlantic City Steel Pier while on this trip.

The Warren County Industrial Management Association held a dinner meeting in the Pleasant Township Fire Hall last Monday evening with one hundred foremen and supervisors from twenty different industries present. During the meeting an election was held and Melbourne Karlson of Deluxe Metal Furniture company was installed as the association's president. The toastmaster for the evening was retiring president Richard W. Swanson of Pickett's Hardware company.

Moon Case Runs Out Of Prospective Jurors

The trial of Norman Moon for the murder of Judge Allison D. Wade, January 13, 1954, droned into its fourth session today with seven jurors chosen and seven to go. To get the seven, eighty-six prospects were cross examined and seventy-nine were found unsatisfactory.

Last evening, deputies were busy lining up sixty more men and women for jury duty and this morning the selection continued. At this rate it is doubtful if the actual prosecution of the case will be started before Monday. Judge Alexander C. Flick probably will continue court through Saturday to expedite the case.

Named for jury duty are: Richard E. Curtin of Sheffield; William W. Rhoades, arc welder, Clarendon; Lucille McKelvey, housewife, Pine Grove Twp.; Harold Joy, oil field worker, Kinzua twp.; Allen Porter, farmer, Bear Lake; Hazel Witz, housewife, Warren Boro; and Howard L. Clark, circulation mgr., Times-Mirror, Warren Boro.

Thus far the commonwealth, whose case is being handled by David Kohn and Harrington Adams of the attorney general's staff, has used up eight preemptory challenges and the defense, Samuel D. Braemer and Thomas A. Waggoner, have used twelve. They are allowed twenty each.

Though the press of the nation has been well represented it has been forced to strain a bit for anything worthy of headlines. The work of reporting the testimony for the court was eased this week when the regular court reporter, Agnes Mong, was spelled by Dora Williamson, of Erie, who utilized a stenographic machine, seldom seen here except when state or federal board hearings are heard.

Robert J. Wilson, Jr., was elected president of the Warren County Tuberculosis Society Tuesday, at the regular noon luncheon-meeting of the Lion's Club. Other officers chosen to serve in the coming year were Donald Curtis, vice president; James Mazzu, executive secretary; Frank Foster, assistant secretary; and Myron Jewell, treasurer. Glenn Patchen is the retiring president.

A nominating committee consisting of James Mazzu, Myron Jewell and Don Curtis presented the following slate of officers to be voted upon at the next regular meeting; Joe Krimmel, president; Al Chiaramonte, 1st vice president; Ed MacKendrick, 2nd vice president; Robert Meleen, 3rd vice president; Elbert Nine, secretary; Jerry Waxman, assistant secretary; Dr. Arthur Marceca, tailtwister, Jack Kuhns, Lion tamer; Howard Landers, treasurer; Ed Ryberg and Wendell Peterson, two-year directors; and Samuel Bonavita and Dr. John Larson, one-year directors.

Forty Persons Responded to the call Monday evening, when committees from the YWCA and YMCA sponsored a panel discussion for the benefit of chaperons at the YW Activities Building. The event was proclaimed an unqualified success when it adjourned after a two-hour session. The moderator was A. J. McDonnell, a member of the Beatty Jr., high faculty. The panel itself consisted of John Stachowiak, Robert Geiger, Miss Jean Morse, Mrs. W. S. Lordin, and Mrs. Walter Mathyer.

Analyzing The Program in language arts for the seventh graders are Henry Powell, principal of Warren's Beatty Jr. High, together with A. J. McDonald, Miss Margaret Binney, and James Fales. This group will meet with Gerald M. Newton, curriculum supervisor of the Warren schools May 11 at three o'clock at the Beatty building.

COURT ORDER FOR JURORS.

Yesterday at 3:15 Judge Flick charged Rut Sanford and H. B. Pettit with the duty of going out into the streets of Warren and bringing in thirty jurors each to form a list from which today's selection of jurors will come. Pictured is Sanford serving Nettie Nelson with summons at the corner of Second ave., and Liberty.

TODAY VS. THE MORNING SHOW

When Buffalo's WBEN dropped the Dave Garroway TODAY show as a part of its change-over to CBS, and took on Walter Kronkite's The Morning Show, there ensued some discussion among loyal fans and critics concerning the comparative qualities of the two. In fact, when CBS created the Morning Show our own critic, John Crosby, devoted a column to criticising CBS for doing a copy cat job instead of creating something new.

We reserved judgment until we had seen the Kronkite act for a few weeks but now have concluded that we know which offers us the most for our time. We will take Garroway's program, though we believe Kronkite is a smoothy and there are parts of his show which we prefer.

We doubt if the stuffed lion, which is about as grotesque a creature as we can imagine, can hold its own with Muggs. Muggs' propensity to take nips out of his contemporaries may change this, but as long as his value supercedes the pain his fellow participants have to suffer for their art, he no doubt will be one of Garroway's cast.

He certainly is more appealing than the thing on Kronkite's show which looks like a dragon with wood shavings for a wig. On this score, as long as we can enjoy him at long distance, we will take Muggs.

We like the Morning show when it comes to music. The performances of the marionettes is much more pleasing to us than the faces which peer through the TODAY window. We realize that there are some who look for friends in the curious group before the window

Big Names Top Coming TV Dramas

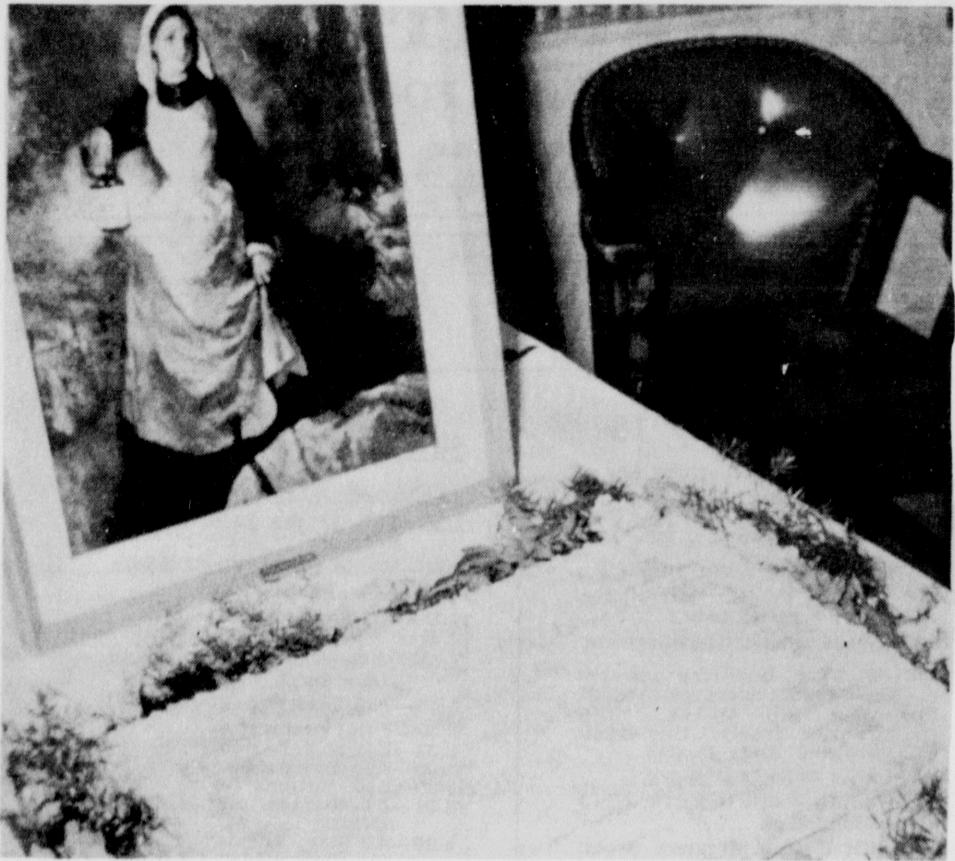

Elliott Nugent, star of stage, screen and television, and Louis Jourdan, noted in America and Europe for his outstanding stage and screen performances, will top the casts for the next two Robert Montgomery Presents programs on WBEN-TV Sunday nights, May 16 and 23, at 11:15 o'clock.

Jourdan will star in the dramatization of Georges Arnaud's widely praised novel, "The Wages of Fear," on May 16. Currently starring on Broadway in "The Immortalist," Jourdan will portray Gerard, one of four men assigned to drive truckloads of nitroglycerine to Guatemalan oil fields.

Nugent, seen a few months ago in the Montgomery presentation of "Mr. Whittle and the Morning Star," will be starred on the May 23 program in "Pilgrim's Pride," a comedy by Irving Gaynor Neiman. He will portray a young

Truth or Consequences

The popular radio audience participation program, Truth or Consequences, will become a brand new television feature on WBEN-TV beginning Tuesday night, May 18, at 10 o'clock. The weekly series, replacing Fred Allen's Judge for Yourself, will be headed by Jack Bailey.

TEA PARTY.....for the nurses and the alumni of the Warren General Hospital took place this week. The party was in honor of Florence Nightingale's birthday and National Hospital Day. This picture gives you a quick glance of the cake given by the Anderson Baking Co. and the painting of Florence Nightingale in the background belongs to Superintendent Dorothy Meldorf. LATE SPORTS

Softball Swings Into action in Warren this week. The Industrial loop on Monday night has scheduled Texas Lunch against Struthers on the West Side diamond and Keystone faces the Emblem Oil at Beatty Field. On Tuesday, May 18, the Warren Merchants tangle with Thomas Coupling at the West Side. Texas Lunch meets Keystone on the West Side field on Wednesday. Thursday games include Struthers versus the Merchants on the West Side and Emblem playing Thomas Coupling at Beatty.

The Hot Stove Baseball league of Warren had a good turnout at last night's meeting. The inventory equipment committee, made up of Red Whitten, Bob Oehlenschlager, Larry Laughton, Cliff Terry, Ray Lord, Al Toner, and Tony Tassoni, is meeting tonight (Thursday) at seven sharp in Charlie Musante's Garage to check all equipment and to make necessary adjustments. Schedules were discussed but not completed. Some baseballs were distributed to team handlers so they could have some warm-up games before the season begins in early June. The next meeting is on Tuesday, May 18, in the Trinity Memorial Church, starting at seven.

The Annual Boy's Camp sponsored by the YMCA boy's department, Warren, will have a change of camp site this time: from Camp Sherwin on Lake Erie to Camp Cornplanter. There will be two periods, June 13 to June 20 and June 20 to June 27. Another change this season is that the Warren and Bradford YMCAs will be working hand in hand in a combined effort to put forth an outstanding camping program.

Registrations, which open with this announcement, will require a fee of $2.00 to be included in the weekly cost of camp of $17.00. Adequate insurance is an extra 50 cents.

Showboat Docks For Concert. A medley of songs from Jerome Kerns "Showboat" will be the special feature at the annual spring concert of the Warren high school a cappella choir Thursday, May 20, at the Beatty gym. Carroll Fowler, director, will lead the choir in singing such other well known selections as "I Got Rhythm" by George Gershwin, a Fred Waring arrangement of "While We're Young", and the South American "Tico-Tico". Members of the choir who are graduating will be presented pins at this concert. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the choir.

Meeting Of Ground Observer Corps. Don Kinander, Chief Observer, urges the public and all members of the Warren Post, Ground Observer Corps to attend a meeting Tuesday evening, May 18 at 8 p. m. in the small courtroom of the Warren County Courthouse. Observer "Wings" will be presented to new members along with length of service certificates and medals to those who have served the required number of hours. A film dealing with our air defense will also be shown.

"Y" Boys Camp Rally. Tomorrow evening at 7 p. m. the annual "Y" Boys Camp Rally will be held at the YMCA.

F.H.A. Style Show. "An American in Paris" will be the theme for the Warren high school's Future Homemakers of America Style Show this evening at 8:30 p. m. in Warren high school auditorium. Janis Carlson is general chairman for the affair with Irma Shearer and Susan Pearson writing the script. Kathleen Schmader and Marilyn Gafner head the committee in charge of models with Cynthia Barker, Mary Ann Odell, Nancy Toscano and Deanna Wilson assisting. Invitations were designed by Nancy Blomquist and her committee. Jeannene Kohler is in charge of refreshments.

Teachers Dinner. The Warren Boro Teachers Association will have their annual spring dinner tonight at the YWCA at 6:30 p. m. Co-chairmen for the banquet, Anna Jane Hawkins and Leroy Peck, announce that all boro teachers have been invited and that a string ensemble will provide the music for the program.

Miss Warren County Contest Rules

Girls who want to participate in the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce Miss Warren County pageant should be preparing an entry blank, one of which may be found in this issue, and should acquaint themselves with the rules. The pageant will be in two stages, a preliminary contest in front of the Warren municipal building, June 25, when five will be named, and the finals on Beatty field in conjunction with the Fourth of July celebration on July 5, when Miss Warren County will be chosen.

The winner will have all her expenses paid to the state contest, and if she wins there will enjoy the same help to attend the national Miss America contest at Atlantic City. And remember, every finalist at Atlantic City will start the same way, in a county pageant, just like Warren's.

The rules include:
Resident of Warren county for past six months, single and never previously married, high school graduate by September 1, 1954, not younger than eighteen nor more than twenty-eight on September 1, possess good character, poise, personality, intelligence, charm and beauty of face and figure, and you may be either an amateur or a professional.

Entrant also must display a talent in a three-minute routine. This may be singing, dancing, playing musical instrument, dramatic reading, art, dress designing, and similar accomplishments.

The Jaycees hope that residents of the county will encourage girls to take part. If you know of one you believe would qualify, urge her awards are available to winners.

GATES OPEN 7:30Joint High School Building Site To Be Considered

A positive step was taken Monday evening at the Warren Area Joint school board toward building plans for a new high school in Warren. A site committee was selected composed of the following members: Kenneth Barrett of Conewango township; L. M. Schaeffer of Pleasant; C. R. Morrison of Glade; Russell Hanson of Warren boro; and board president M. G. Keller, ex officio. Mr. Hanson was elected chairman of the group.

The resignation of the following teachers were accepted with regret: Miss Louise Imler, Mrs. Arlene Whitehill, and Mrs. Jane Black. Miss Mira Heerlein was employed as a teacher of home-making for the coming school term. Miss Heerlein is from Corry.

The commencement schedule was announced as follows: Friday, June 4, the Junior-Senior Prom at the Woman's Club; Saturday, June 5, Senior Picnic at Midway Park; Sunday, June 6, Baccalaureate exercises in the First Presbyterian church; Monday, June 7, Class Day Dinner at the Y. W. C. A.; Tuesday, June 8, Commencement in the First Presbyterian Church.

The graduation list for this school year was submitted to the committee and approved. The committee also approved the appearance of the Dragon Band on Memorial Day, Flag Day, and the July 4th parade.

Mr. Hartley Searle, the exchange teacher from Australia, was given the three days spent at a conference at Boston without loss of salary, plus two days he will spend in the near future in New York when he goes there to meet Mrs. Searle who is coming here from Australia for a visit.

QUIET PRIMARY
NEXT TUESDAY

You would never know there was a primary election coming up in Warren county next Tuesday. Competition is limited and except for the race for governor nomination on the Democrat ticket, interest is very minor.

The Democrats very much want a strong gubernatorial candidate this year and the choice is narrowed down to William D. McClelland, of Allegheny county, and George M. Leader, of York. Leader, a young newcomer, and supposedly the organization's choice, is expected to win.

The Republicans have Lloyd H. Wood as their governor candidate. In the area they have Leon H. Gavin for congress, Dr. Leroy E. Chapman for state senator, W. Scott Calderwood for state committee member, and Allen M. Gibson for assembly.

Opposition to this ticket will be picked by the Democrats Tuesday, with Fred C. Barr, of Tidioute, for congress, George O'Hara, of Venango county, for state senator, and Lewis L. Crippen, of Youngsville, for assembly. Milburn E. Anderson, of Warren, is slated for Democrat state committeeman.

Capital Punishment Again

The question of capital punishment is being brought home to Warren in a trial that is attracting the attention of the nation and promises to be a bit sensational if certain approaches are utilized in the defense. Do we have the right to kill this boy?

We say, No! And it is apparent that a growing percentage of our population agrees. The first day of court was devoted to interviewing twenty people. Out of these only two jurors were obtained. Many of those turned down were disqualified because they admitted their consciences would bother them if they took this boy's life.

It will be argued that he bought a gun, loaded it, brought it to Warren, and walked into a court room to shoot down a judge. This will be called premeditated murder. And if it be true, it is exactly that.

But should our law be based on an eye for an eye? Do we have the right to take away a life even if its possessor took another's? We cannot understand how a Christian can believe in capital punishment. Christ said very plainly, Thou shalt not kill.

To us an entire state is wrong every time it asks an executioner to pull the death switch. To us our legislators are responsible for perpetuating this wrong by not fighting for a change in the law. And the people are wrong for waiting until they face jury duty before admitting they don't want this on their conscience.

Do you believe in capital punishment? If this defendant is found guilty of first degree murder and is sentenced to the chair, will you pull that switch?

You are pulling the switch if you do nothing about having such a law changed. And remember, if Norman Moon performed this killing he was not dissuaded by the existence of capital punishment. There must be a better way.

Keep The Hearings Going

Many people in this area are writing letters to the Altoona station in an effort to keep the McCarthy hearings on the air. Housewives who never have cared for most of the TV drivel in the day time are watching this spectacle avidly. And many who had resigned themselves to third rate dramas now find a program of wide civic interest for which to enthuse.

More has been learned about men who were nothing but names than would be possible through shelves of books, months of columnists, and years of radio commentators. They see McCarthy for what he is. They see a capable civilian leader handling himself coolly as a front for the army. The testimony reveals quite plainly that the army has been pressured. And such pressure no doubt is not uncommon, though the kind applied by McCarthy is more than free men can take sitting down.

They also are learning that even McCarthy's associates are not too pleased with him and there is an undertone of displeasure with this man who spills forth denunciations of those who dare oppose him. McCarthy is doing a very good job on McCarthy and Americans are having their eyes opened.

Daily we hear people who had shrugged off criticism of McCarthy because they thought he was doing a good thing fighting communists, frankly admit they were wrong and express their disgust with the man and his methods.

This is the type of service that press mediums can provide in a truly free nation. Let the man speak. We certainly will fight to see that he has that opportunity. True freedom will perpetuate itself.

Press Monopoly

Senator Edwin C. Johnson has introduced a bill which makes it impossible for anyone to be granted a radio or TV license if they own at least ten percent of a newspaper in a community of 100,000 people or more.

Radio and television are becoming as major a part of our press coverage as the newspapers. In fact, in the field of timeliness you cannot beat the radio, if it is efficient and has a real news bureau, which few do, unfortunately.

If we are to have laws against monopoly we can think of few fields in which it can be more necessary than that which controls the facts of our daily news. Our reporters are the eyes of the public. Distorted or controlled versions of what they see and hear will have a major effect on our way of life. In fact, already have.

If there is a medium which should be kept free, it is the press. We believe the senator's bill not only is good, but in fact is not good enough. It should apply to even smaller communities.

Buyers CornerAre You In Danger?

Are you living in a fire trap? How old was that house when you bought it? Did you assume that the wiring was adequate, or did you have it thoroughly inspected by a qualified electrician?

The wiring in most homes was adequate when it first was installed, but most people put it in to give them lights, either from the ceiling or from the floor. They also may have owned a vacuum sweeper, and maybe even an electric iron.

Since then we have added radio, television, refrigeration, automatic gadgets, and many have a work shop in the cellar which includes drills, welding equipment, and other mechanical tools. This adds up to an overload if the wiring has not been modernized. An overload can mean fire.

There is enough in the papers about fire these days to make it unnecessary for us to describe its awful aspects.

How's Business?

How are things comparing with last year? The price index says that farm prices are down two points. However, the prices paid by farmers for commodities are up two points. This is comparing the current prices with the corresponding month of 1953.

New construction in April topped April of 1953. It was $2,758,000 a year ago. It jumped to $2,795,000 last month, most of which was accounted for in the commercial field, which suggests that the parking problem is driving many major stores to create shopping-parking combinations.

Inventories are up about a million dollars over last April, but are lower than they were in March by approximately a half million.

A very major difference between the years is to be found in the back orders. While new orders are up about a million dollars over March, they are nearly two million dollars less than April, 1953. This is bad enough, but worse than that is the fact that unfilled orders are over twenty million dollars less than a year ago. Suggesting that business is holding up fairly well, but is not pushing us very hard.

and apparently the need and the optimism are not great.

But we still have food and whiskey. We produced four million more gallons of distilled spirits in April than we did in the '53 fourth month. Two million of this increase was in whiskey.

We have about six million more pounds of beef and veal, but lamb and pork are down, pork about forty million pounds less.

Coffee? We have more than last year by 35,000 bags. But the run on it has reduced a January supply of over a million bags to a round 735,000!

TV didn't hurt radio last year? Wonder what people are doing with those sets for which they paid over one billion dollars? All the radio, TV, and phonograph sales together totaled about a billion and a half dollars. Of this, $1,188,060,000 was for TV sets, or 74 percent of the them purchases. If they are buying them they are watching.

Warren Trackmen Divide Two

After gaining a second victory over the Titusville thinclads, 71-38, the Warren high Dragons took it on the chin, 60-58, from Oil City in this week's action.

Warren had previously defeated the Oilers, 68-50, at Beaty. The season's record now stands five triumphs and two losses.

At Titusville the Dragons won eight out of eleven first places. Top honors went to Don Mahaffey, 100 dash in 10.7 sec. and 220 sprint in 24.8; John Powley mile run, 4 min. 55.5; Bruce Duell 880 sprint, 2 min. 10.3 sec.; Willard Foley discus with 124 ft., 6 in.; John Fisher javelin, 149 ft., 9 in. Jim Simonsen and Fahey Morley tied in the pole vault reaching 9 ft., 6 in. Other firsts were the 880 and mile relays.

Second place winners for the locals were Dick Schuler, 440 run; Dick Koebley, 220 dash; Mike Shanshala, shot put; John Fisher, high jump; Jeff Homan, javelin and broad jump.

Against Oil City Warren took six first places and tied another. Warren's half mile relay team comprised of C. Greco, R. Swanson, D. Koebley and D. Mahaffey set a new record in 1 min. 31.5 sec. The previous mark was 1 min. 34.6 sec.

Damaging was the eight second place winners for the Oilers which gave them a good share of the scoring. Warren made a clean sweep in the javelin with J. Fisher taking first with 157 ft., 9 in., S. McClelland was second, B. Duell finished third.

Stewart captured the 180 low hurdles in 23.2 sec. Don Mahaffey continued his heavy scoring, winning in the 100 dash in 10.2, and 220 sprint in 24.3. Dale Meddock won his first mile run in 5 min. 10.2 sec. Jeff Homan was victor in the broad jump with 18 ft., 4 1-2 in. Second place honors were taken by Bruce Duell in the 880, and W. Foley, discus.

Youngsville Drubbed Southwestern this week, 87-17. The improving Eagles captured all the events except the high jump. Now the county boys will be gunning for several top places in the District meet on May 22.

Warren Faces Jamestown tomorrow afternoon on the Beaty oval. Meadville comes here for a tussle next Tuesday. On Saturday, May 22, Warren travels to the Allegheny College track field for the annual District meet.

Golf Opens

They are paying off for good golf at the Conewango Valley Country Club this season. In addition to having special events for Thursday competition the men also are shooting for low gross and low net prizes. And the club championship flights will be determined by season handicaps. It should add up to an incentive for golfers to improve their games.

Last week Stan Korb shot a 40 to lead the field on the opening day. Net 36 was the handicap winning total, and was shared by Nat Drake, Andy Paucek, Bill Lutz, Jr., and Bob Walsh. A blind bogey also was held, and was won by Bill Lundahl, J. B. Proctor, H. F. Schmidt, and Don Conaway.

Today they are shooting a low gross and low net event with 7-8ths handicap. Next week it will be a better ball of four, using handicap. Also the usual low gross. And a week from Saturday, Jamestown's team invades the Warren course. The ladies next Wednesday will have a hidden hole tourney.

More Winnings by Warren bowlers have been announced. Bob Check collected $75 for his 1041 in the Bowl-O-Drome sweeps, and Dr. Jim Giunta received $20 for his 971. Bob finished fourth and Doc was tied for eighteenth.

Bowling At Bradford, Pete Juliano and Myer Pappalardo hit 1176 to take over fourth position in doubles of the Gusher tournament.

In the all-events Pete is third with 1768 and Myer is fourth with 1746.

The tourney ends this week-end.

Quickies

A Big Help to Grove City's college track squad is Ben Pastrick, former Warren high athlete. Pastrick against Westminster this week placed second in the shot put, javelin, and discus.

Postponed Because of bad weather was the spring drills for the Ludlow Wildcats. However, practice sessions are set for every Tuesday and Thursday nights starting at six in Wildcat Park. The first home game is scheduled for Memorial Day.

Improving Is Bud Terry, Slippery Rock college sprinter. Terry in a recent triangular meet against Carnegie Tech and Geneva captured the 100 yd. dash in 10.2 sec. and the 220 dash in 24 sec. flat.

A Softball Victory was annexed by the Texas Lunch team from Warren. The locals defeated the Jamestown Vets, 13-12, in a twelve inning thriller. The Jamestown boys will get a chance to get even when they come to the West Side field, Sunday, May 29. The Texas group will go to Girard this Sunday.

Named National Champ of the AAU organization is Jean Cronstedt, gymnastic artist of Penn State, who performed in the Warren Y recently. Cronstedt won the high and parallel bars. He now plans to visit his homeland, Finland, before entering the Rome Olympics this summer.

Taking A Hand in other sports besides basketball and golfing at Gannon college is George Hesch. He now seems to be doing quite well in tennis. Against Edinboro State Teachers college Hesch defeated his opponent, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, in the singles, and then with teammate Condon he took the doubles, 6-2, 6-2.

Junior Rifle Club of the Warren Y holds its spring tournament at the State Armory this Saturday morning, starting at nine. The tourney is divided into four groups, Beginners and Pro-Marksman, Marksman, Marksman 1st. class and Sharpshooters.

Future Trackmen may possibly be the boys of the Gray-Y and the six Warren elementary schools. They are having a special track and field meet at Beaty this Saturday at one o'clock.

A Strong Baseball team this season may shape up in the Marlin Rockwell nine. For local fans they have many Saturday afternoon games lined up at the Warren State Hospital. Tom Juliano, of Warren, and one of the team's best hitters will be shifted to third base this season. The pitching staff is strengthened with the return of Sugar Grove's Don Spenser from the Army. The first game on the State Hospital diamond is on May 22, with Sherman the opposition.

Receiving National Recognitions as YMCA aquatic beginners leaders are Norman Main, Roger Cluquennoi, Carol Pittman, and Susan Crossett. The group was in Ridgway this week for an aquatic clinic and now will work on completing the course.

Championship In Warren for the Swimming Invitational takes place in the Y this Saturday beginning at 1:30. Ridgway, Brookville, Oil City, and Warren are some of the entries. Ribbons are awarded to the winners of each events.

Giving It A Try after a lapse of a few years is the Sunset loop of Warren. At the meeting this week four teams signed up, including Youngsville, the Elks, Hooktown Merchants, and a Warren team. Voted president was Nick Creola. Phil Colvin was selected as vice president, and Stan Johnson secretary-treasurer. The next meeting is set for Monday, May 24 at 7:30, in the Warren Y. Entry fees, schedules, rosters, and rules will be brought up at this meeting.

Our Prediction Came real after noticing the national sports scene this week. We are referring to Roger Bannister's 3 min. 59.4 mile run. Two months ago we wrote in the sports column that Bannister would run under 4 min. before the year was over.

RECORD HOLDER Jim Simonsen of the Warren high track squad set a new pole vault record recently at Smethport, reaching the height of 10 feet 9 3-4 in. Bob Foley

SOFTBALL..... with the first league games scheduled for Monday, May 17, several Warren Industrial softball teams have been getting in shape at various diamonds. Our camera had a glimpse at the West side field where Struthers and the Warren Merchants tangled as a warm-up this week.

TEPID STUFF BY MODERN STANDARDS

I do not know that the dance of the seven veils in "Salome" on the NBC Opera Theater last Saturday is the sexiest in the history of that controversy-ridden opera, but it sure was the boldest bit of choreography I've ever seen on television.

I was fairly bemused by the whole thing because when I first read Oscar Wilde's "Salome" in college (roughly around the first Ice Age) it was considered fairly hot stuff even in French which was the only language I could find it in. (Wilde wrote it in pretty lousy French, a language he spoke but had no real sympathy for.) When the opera was first produced at the Metropolitan, it caused an uproar.

But, of course, that was all a long time ago. Since then, we have had Mickey Spillane and the comic books. So naturally a story about a step-daughter of a king who lusts after a holy man in red hot (though bad) French (and in the NBC version in red hot though not much better English), who does a strip-tease in front of her step-father who would like to possess her himself, who has the holy man's head cut off and then exhibits what amounts to female necrophilia with it right on the stage — lot of male

"Salome" concludes the NBC Television Opera Theater season and it has been on the whole a remarkably interesting and successful season which quite deservedly won it a Peabody Award. The seven operas presented this season were "Carmen," "Macbeth," "Amahl and the Night Visitors," "The Marriage of Figaro" (in two parts), "The Taming of the Shrew," "Pelleas and Melisande" and "Salome."

That list is a judicious mixture of very well known and often sung operas like "Carmen," of new opera like "Amahl" and of very necrophilia going around but female necrophilia is pretty rare — and who is ultimately crushed to death under the shields of her step-father's soldiers — well, sir, a story like that might have upset our Victorian ancestors but not us. After all, even the small tykes are now being brought up on comic books in which one sexy female sprays radium dust on the bared breasts of another. A little thing like "Salome" is probably considered by Junior to be pretty tepid stuff. Strictly for aging adults.

Frankly, I've always thought Oscar Wilde didn't know what he was talking about on the subject of women (who were not his strong point), that no woman ever flung herself at even Porfirio Rubirosa with quite such abandon. But then I could be wrong. (They don't talk to me that way, but maybe Liberace gets that kind of talk.)

The part of Salome is, I guess, just a little too exhausting to be performed by any one girl without an intermission. It was sung — and very well sung — by Elaine Malbin and danced with awesome erotic fury by Carmen Gutierrez. The switch from singer to dancer and back again was done so skillfully that no one would have noticed the change if the credits hadn't revealed it. While Richard Strauss' music is not entirely my dish of tea, his opera was given a handsome and frequently striking production and there was some fine camera work.

The NBC opera series is an expensive business since it is unsponsored, but it is one of the most worthwhile things the network has ever done on television and I devoutly hope we get it back next season.

Washington And You

By Margaret Chase Smith

WASHINGTON. — The subject of this column is not encouraging. It is disappointing. In fact, it is a sad story. The beginning of this sad story starts at an end — the end of the Big Four Foreign Ministers Conference in Berlin early this year. That conference had been going on for days. It had produced no tangible results or agreements. Russia's Molotov had engaged in a vitriolic filibuster for days. Once again he displayed the Communist strategy of creating and compounding confusion. He had demonstrated once more that the Communists are not interested in settling a real and permanent peace. Again it had been a case of a constant stream of Communist malice and propaganda — using the conference as a forum for broadcasting obvious lies to the world.

So the Berlin meetings accomplished nothing tangible on the objective of peace.

But it was not without a kind of victory for our side — and a defeat for the Communists. For from the very beginning it was apparent that Molotov's principal objective was to do everything he could to drive a wedge between the Allies — to split up the United States, Britain and France and start them fighting among themselves.

At the end of the meetings, however, it was clear that Molotov had failed. Despite his efforts, the Allies stood firm and remained united. That, in itself, was a significant victory. Many of us back here at home were very much encouraged with this result.

But just as we were enjoying the satisfaction of that victory we were jolted by the "kicker" at the very end of the conference. That "kicker" was the agreement to hold the Geneva Conference and to permit representatives of Red China to attend. That did not look good to us. Some of us suspected that perhaps Molotov's real objective at Berlin was to get agreement to a future conference which could be attended by Red China representatives.

Our satisfaction turned to apprehension. There was an appearance that after we had snatched defeat from the jaws of victory that we had fumbled the victory into defeat in the last seconds of the contest.

And the events and developments at Geneva during the past few days have increased our apprehension, to say the least. Surely, the Geneva Conference has not been a "shining hour" in the history of our country. It certainly has not enhanced our prestige in Asia or in Europe — or here at home with the American people.

The sad truth and the ugly fact about Geneva is that Molotov has been able to accomplish what he failed to do at Berlin. He has split the Allies. He has driven a wedge between the United States, Britain and France — and we have suffered tremendous psychological diplomatic defeat, regardless of how much our national leaders may try to gloss over that fact.

WANTA PLAY? Mr. and Mrs. Kenny Peterson have a variety of playthings in their newly opened Toy Center, 424 Pennsylvania ave., W. that would make any adult wish he had never grown up. As for the youngsters, they will find something there for them if they can talk their parents into a visit any day this week.

Political Signs

By Thomas L. Stokes

WASHINGTON. The healthy and sane aspects of the Alabama Senatorial primary this week are easily overlooked, but should be noted.

They may be construed fairly safely as symptomatic of the new spirit of tolerance that is moving in the South. At least that seems to be the underlying meaning of the renomination by a thumping majority of Senator John Sparkman, which is tantamount to election in his state.

Let us take a look at this interesting case study. Senator Sparkman was a delegate to the 1952 Democratic National Convention. He was a member of its Resolutions Committee. He helped to draft the plank in the party's platform dealing with civil rights which, among other commitments, advocated Federal legislation to secure effectively for everyone "the right to equal opportunity for employment." As its final act, the convention nominated Senator Sparkman as its candidate for Vice-President to run with Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. In that capacity he made speeches all over the country for the national party.

Surely, there's nothing unusual there, other than a typical American success story of the son of a tenant farmer who pushed himself forward and upward, entered politics, and ultimately was honored by his party with second place on its national ticket, a distinction of which his community and state should naturally be proud.

Yet, there is something unusual there. You might not think it, but it is risky still for a Southern political leader to be a party to a civil-rights plank and then to identify himself with the platform and the national party by being so bold as to accept its nomination for Vice-President. The risk became clear when it came time for John Sparkman, who never got to be Vice-President, to run again for his seat in the Senate, two years later.

For he became the victim of the "usual," as so often happens in the South to progressive political leaders such as John Sparkman. The old familiar cry of "nigger, nigger" was raised in the campaign against him, though more adroitly and politely this time. He was branded by his political foes as a civil-rights supporter like Adlai Stevenson. John Sparkman, however, was not so coupled with the head of the ticket by many outside the South, who did not look upon him as on a par at all on civil rights with Adlai Stevenson. They saw the ticket as out of balance.

However, the issue was good enough in Alabama. At least it was for those who exploited it to try to unseat John Sparkman, including powerful economic groups that spent plenty of money again, as they have before, to eradicate a voice, vote and an influence in the Senate which they consider hostile to their private interests.

But the folks - white and black - have come to look on Senator Sparkman as their friend. They aroused themselves and rallied about to give him a 100,000 majority over his chief rival, Representative Laurie Battle, and around 78,000 majority over the combined field of his three opponents.

The appeal to racial prejudice seems to have lost its magic. No longer apparently can it be exploited as formerly to becloud economic benefits such as higher wages; better farm prices; decent housing, urban and rural; owner-operated farms; cheap electric power for homes and plants, all of which Alabama's Senators Sparkman and Lister Hill have espoused through the years. We like to think, too, that increasing tolerance is a part of the Alabama story.

The surprising wide margin of victory for John Sparkman seems also to have another meaning that is significant for the future and in assessing possible future political trends nationally. It appeared to indicate a receding of what might be called the Dixiecrat tide.

The Dixiecrats became important nationally, you will recall, when that hybrid third-party movement with its own Southern candidates for President and Vice-President chipped away four Southern states from then-President Truman and the regular Democratic ticket in 1948. Whatever motives were mixed up in that Dixiecrat movement - and they are varied - it did become a convenient front for such economic interests as utilities, oil, textiles, and banks that bitterly opposed Roosevelt-Truman reform aims of all sorts.

Two years ago, in 1952, those same interests, no longer needing a Dixiecrat third-party front, joined up with Southern Republicans behind President Eisenhower, who also carried four Southern states. They have seen some of their aims, including state control of offshore oil lands up to the "historic boundaries," achieved through the Eisenhower Administration under pledges secured during the campaign.

The scope of the Sparkman triumph would indicate that the Dixiecrat peak probably was reached two years ago, and that it is diminishing now as the rank and file of the South are becoming aware of the real aims of the new alliance which has used General Eisenhower as a front.

WARREN, PA.

DAISIES, an oil painting by Clyde C. Smith, of Warren, was the blue ribbon winner in its division of the Warren Woman's Club art show.

DAISY FANTASY. The daisies were popular with judges of the Warren Woman's Club art show.

This drawing by Roger Parfitt won a miscellaneous blue ribbon.

Art Talent Show Again Successful

The Woman's Club art talent recognition show, which now is being held in its auditorium, again has attracted a wide variety of excellent work by Warren county amateurs and should be well attended. Best of show will not be known until the viewers have cast their votes, but the winners in each class were announced today.

Clyde C. Smith, of 26 Water st., Warren, took the paintings and drawings division blue ribbon with his "Daisies". Clyde, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith, is interested in art as his life work and apparently is getting off to a good start.

Second was Mrs. Helen Logan, 500 Third ave., Warren, with "Autumn". Honorable mention went to Ruth P. Rogan, Clyde C. Smith, Leatrice Segel, and Carol Nelson.

The student winner in this class was Sandra Stone, of 109 Palm ave., Warren, who painted "Grandma Larsen". "Christ" by J. Leonard Lytle, of 833 Fourth ave., was second. Honorable mention went to Ernie Coy, Roger Dunham, J. Leonard Lytle, and Robert Crammer.

Winner of the miscellaneous division was "Daisy Fantasy" by Roger Parfitt, of Cobham Park rd. "Timmy" by Catherine Thomas, LEARN WHILE THEY EARN....

Warren senior high school is giving members of the Senior Class a start on business careers. In the morning, the distributive education class meets in the school for classroom instruction on theory, and each afternoon the members of the class go to their spots in stores for actual training on the job. One of the big advantages is that many students can earn while they're completing their high school education, and another is that they have a head start upon graduation in a business with which they are familiar. Warren merchants have approved the idea to a large degree, and about fifteen now are actively cooperating with the school.

PRESS TIME QUICKS

Dr. Stanley O. Hoerr, of the Cleveland Clinic, will speak to Warren County Medical Society members, Tuesday at 4:30, in the Conewango Club. Mrs. Richard Hansen has been elected president of the Episcopal Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary, which convened in Titusville last week. New President of the Jaycee Auxiliary is Mrs. Alan Buerkle, elected last evening. Mrs. Joseph DeFrees will present a musical program for the group's final meeting May 17.

In The Hospital are Harold Casperson, of Russell st., Warren, and a companion. Casperson was brought to the Warren General following an accident on Conewango ave. extension near the White House Inn this morning. The woman was taken to the Warren State hospital where she and Casperson are employed. She has bruises and a mouth injury. Both were unconscious on admission.

SAFETY COUNCIL MEETS AT EDINBORO. Representing Warren County schools in the safety council conducted at Edinboro State Teachers college last Friday were the above students and teachers who met briefly in front of the Youngsville elementary building. Pictured, left to right, they are: Gene Dugan and Connie Coffman of Tidioute; Instructor Norge Luvison, Kenneth Craker and Venita Tidrick of Northern Area; Instructor Charles Bennett, Norma Putnam and Jack Bailey of Brokenstraw Valley joint schools; Chuck Eaton, Sally Saunders, Nancy Clapp, Bob Benze, Bob Stevens and Instructor Leroy Peck of Warren High School. The council at Edinboro was attended by students from Northwestern Pennsylvania who participated in a panel discussion and listened to a recorded statement from Gov. John S. Fine. Simultaneous meetings were held in the other state colleges for the convenience of adjacent high schools.

Warren Did Well at the F.B.L.A. high school convention in Allenberry Inn near Carlisle this week. A display arranged by students Sandra Stone, Margaret Scalise, Gloria Peterson, and Bob Koobley took first place. A trophy will be given to Warren for this exhibit. The local school also received recognition as one of the groups most successful in organizing new clubs.

Twenty-four students, with Miss Hawkins and Mr. Frits, attended the convention. Sandra Berglund, a junior this year, replaced schoolmate Marilyn Vesling as president for the coming term. Marilyn Pasbrick was chosen as state treasurer.

Mr. Sheldon, chief of the business education in Harrisburg, was the principal speaker. This year's national F.B.L.A. convention will be in Dallas, Texas on June 14 and 15. There is a possibility that Warren will send a teacher and a student representative to this convention.

THEY FILLED THIS Saturday. It is a part of the newly built Glade twp. fire hall, with Fireman Simonson inspecting a corner. About five hundred people visited the open house, enjoyed organ music by Floyd VanTassell, ate cookies, drank coffee, and wound it up with round and square dancing, Saturday night.

WHERE DAT FIRE? Randy Lord figures he'll be a big wheel in this fire fighting business some day even if he can walk under a red wagon's fender. He took in the pre-inspection of Glade twp.'s fire hall.

WELCOME BACK! Returning to Warren's Betty Lee store is Jim Hackett, as a shoe buyer. He is a graduate of St. Bonaventure University and was shoe buyer for two years at Betty Lee before going to Jamestown as manager of a shoe store. This week Mr. Hackett with Jake and Bert Levinson were in Pittsburgh attending a Shoe Mart. They chose many new fashion trends for the Betty Lee store.

WANTED! People Over Sixty ... To Have Fun

If the Warren Junior Chamber of Commerce auxiliary in cooperation with the Civilian Recreation committee has its way there will be a big turn-out in the Warren YWCA, next Tuesday, from two to four o'clock. The first formal step toward the formation of a Golden Age Club will be taken.

This has proved a big success in other communities, Jamestown's club enjoying meetings that attract over 150. Such clubs are for those who are sixty and older, providing companionship and a wide variety of activities.

Mrs. Leon Johnson will be the leader of the Golden Age group in Warren. She has done social work in Jamestown and is familiar with the organization.

The group will be no-denominational, and there will be no fees or dues involved. Transportation will be provided for those who need it. They may call Mrs. Tom Schormann at 2495-J.

Those back of the project are trying to obtain a list for personal invitations, but all are welcome and if an invitation is not received it only means that your name was unintentionally missed. Please attend. You will have a good time.

FOOD GUARANTEED. There will be good meals provided as a part of the Glade twp. fire hall's future. This has been assured by a well equipped kitchen, with a serving port. Inspecting the facilities are Mrs. Pat Whitmore, Mrs. Marion Hedman, and Miss Whitmore.

MANY PRIZES and much fun was the rule last Thursday when the Betty Lee store held a mothers day party in the Blue and White. Here is a part of the happy group collecting honors.

HONOR TEACHERS. Home Street School parents showed their appreciation for good teaching this week when the PTA gave the teachers a dinner. Here they are at the Trinity Church banquet table.

PROMOTED. Lewis C. Spinney, son of Mrs. George E. Spinney and the late Mr. Spinney, who is professor of Military Science at John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio recently was promoted to the rank of Lt. Colonel. Lt. Colonel Spinney is married to the former Elizabeth Blair also of Warren.
